Digital Products Tableau Integration

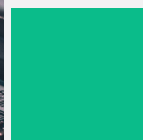

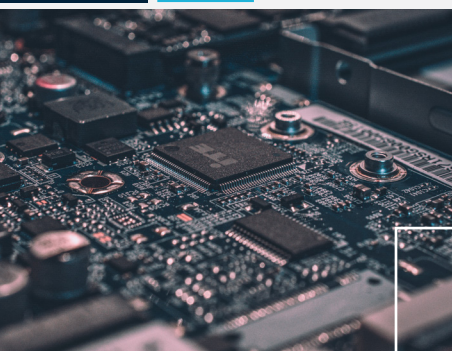

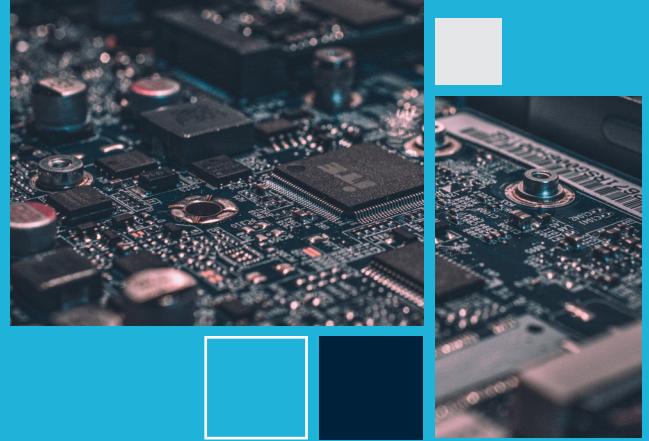

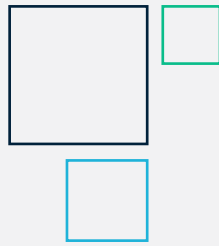

Problem

The world's largest construction equipment manufacturer required clearer and more robust communication and synergy between its data science and marine digital teams, along with an integrated reporting solution.

Solution

Aditi deployed a seamless integration of the data science and marine digital product teams' data, while deploying a multi-faceted dashboard, complete with reporting processes. This two-phased project was completed within 12 months, in which department wide peer reviews were conducted, existing deployment processes and architecture were assessed for best practices, and data driven feedback for continuous improvement was provided. The Aditi team then configured and deployed a Tableau server for the marine digital team to build dashboards and automate reports.

Result

Aditi's selection for the integration project underscores its expertise and collaborative approach. The team conducted a comprehensive peer review of fellow team members' development, fostering cohesion and a culture of continuous improvement. Working closely with the data science team, Aditi ensured seamless collaboration, enhancing the overall effectiveness of the integration. In addition to scrutinizing existing deployment processes and architecture, Aditi provided valuable feedback aligned with industry best practices. Showcased Aditi's commitment to delivering tangible solutions through meticulous planning, data driven insights and efficient implementation.
